the Prome heus, for late papers and news. OUR HAVANA CORRESPONDENCE.

HAVANA, Nov. 21, 1863. General Canedo Reports a Slaver-Arrest of a Portion of the Cargo-What Became of the Remainder-Closing Acts of the Government of the Captain General--Our Consul at Maian ray -- Accident to the Steamer Falcon-Saintly and Royal

I have the pleasure of advising you that General Canedo, f his own volition, this morning advised the British Consul General, very much to his surprise, I presume, that a landing had been reported to him of three hundred Africans at the "Ensenado de Cochinos," near to Cientuegos, and that under his instructions for their seizure, twelve negroes had been apprehended, supposed to belong to the cargo, in the charge of two countrymen, who were also arrested.

This looks very well, although there is some appearance of fabricating testimony at a very cheap rate, as the advising official had it in his power to have seized the whole gang before the partition was made; but the bonus for two hundred and eighty eight was too powerful to yield before the tender conscience of the functionary or his superior.

two hundred and eighty eight was too powerful to yield before the tender conscience of the functionary or his superior.

This is the closing act of the faithful devotion of Gen. Canedo to the cause of humanity in suppression of the siave traffic, and will go a great way towards making English sentiment forget the thousands of onnose pockeled during his administration, from the pursuit of the trade under his sanction and authorization. But the coolest thing yet done by the n inions of Spanish power has been the refusal of Gen. Pavia, Governor of Matanza, to permit Mr. Morrel, appointed Consul for that port, to take charge of the office of the American consulate, and perform the customary duties of Commercial Agent until his "exquatur" as Consul is received from Madrid.

Mr. Morrell tells me that Gen. Pavia is well enough pleased with the present incumbent, and that he cannot recognise the right of any other to perform the duties at present; that when he is duly permitted by accreditions from Madrid, he will have no objection to his entering upon the discharge of the duties of the office—and not until them. This will be delayed several months, and, as has been the case before, may be much longer deferred. But it never has been questioned the right to have charge of the Consulate and to perform the duties under the commercial title, which has always been accorded by the Supreme government of Cuba, on presentation of their credential letters of appointment, &c. If Judge Clayton is to receive the same welcome he will have a very pleasant opening, with leisure for the study of Spanish character, and the acquirement of their language to facilitate the future discharge of bis duties.

The steamer Falcon left us on the 18th for New York, but, very much to our rastonishment, she was troubling the waters of our port again on the 18th, evering, having bat, very much to our astonishment, she was troubling the waters of our portagain on the 19th, evening, having returned to make some repairs to her machinery, and having been in considerable danger of being lost upon the Florida Reef, not being able to put on steam sufficient to work her cut of danger. She was compelled to take the course indicated by the wind, which brought her back, very much to the regret of some who have short time, and desiyed exchange. Several of her passengers will take passage from this place on board the steamer Isabel, which is to leave in the morning at 7 o'clock, but we have been unable to ascertain weat was to be the fate of the Falcon's malfs—whether they will be transferred, or permitted to remain with the floating wrong in these repeated failures, and Law should look to it or the game will be a losing one.

We have had our usual holy annual celebrations the beat week. Sais touristopher, who has charge of the Havans Sodom, was "coted" about town on a platform, narried by nervoe a little blacker than the bronze imags, and followed by wax candles, negroes and whites, through a composite crowd of spectators, embracing all the shades and shadows of our oppulation. The occasion was solemn, I presume, but the scene was most ludicrous. The military escort—the Captain-General on foot, and all the municipal and church diguitaries, humble in their robes of state—was very edifying to our heretic, who stood among the other suncers to see—not with his wax candle trimmed. I fear me, if the way to heaven leads along the path of such display. After a good deal of lumbering fuss, generally, and day was waxing dim, they hurried the holy stock back to its three hundred and sity-four days' hiding place in one of the curtained niches of the rathedral.

On the 19th we were called upon to do the needful for ried the holy stock back to its three hundred and sixty-four days' hiding place in one of the curtained niches of the cathedral.

On the 19th we were called upon to do the needful for the Queen, "God bless her," or rather her saint, who watches over the progeny of other people. The big guns were apacking our love early, at noontide and samest. We fixed the corner stone of the Woman Queen where was the black image of the child, under the anaptices of General Canedo, and in the presence of all the human dignity and dirt of Havara. At 12 o'clock there was a court held at the Palace, which was well attended, and brilliant with galoon and decorations.

The troops were displayed in the evening of the day, to show the gentle bonds of our love, and the Captain General and his brilliant staff led cown the line with the chiralic bearing that won the heart of the fair Dominguez. To compensate us for the expense of the gala feast and trappings we were regaled by duplicate bands from 8 to 10 o'clock at night, up in the Plana de Armas, quantum sejf. General Canedo has received a royal order for the release of the manacipades—which is the opening of the British interest in Cuba. For the benefit of the United States, and under the impression that it will cause much trouble in the community, he has deferred its execution for the genius of General Pezuela, who is expected to arrive the Erst of next week.

It is believed, un'er British construction, this order may be made to cover all the negroes that have been brought into Cuba since the publication of the treaty between Spain and England, and that this view will be forced upon Spain and England, and that this view will be toreed upon Spain and England, and that this view will be forced upon Spain and England, and that this view will be forced upon Spain and England, and that this view will be forced upon Spain and England, and that this view will be forced upon Spain and England, and that this week will be forced upon Spain and England, and that this week will be forced upon Sp
